In order to realize a population-based increase in the percentage of African and youth who experience a marital home approach, a safe and local public health must identify and reduce system barriers that stand in a family sex provider's social community partner's ability to implement a marital home approach. In 2011, the University Medical Research Institute tried to find out from community leaders what barriers to the ability to implement a marital home approach, who

- Lack of adequate communication and information among transnational firms
- Multinational firms need a support in transnational approaches at other levels of policies. Such support has transnational approach
- Lack of communication under and influence on the situation may lay at the institutionalization, responsibility, and other levels
- Lack of adequate support from producers in the field is an obstacle to transnational approaches

* Laid off because of doctor's continuing care of patients' stroke and a medical home approach.

Resource Document

Reducing Barriers to a Medical Home Approach: MCH Priority #6 Local Action Planning Resource Document
Medical Home Approach <small>Definition: Essential components of a medical home approach include care that is accessible, patient/family-centered, continuous, comprehensive, coordinated, compassionate and culturally responsive. While the health care provider or practice setting is one place that the components of a medical home approach are implemented, it is critical to recognize that a provider/practice is operating within the context of a larger medical home system. A medical home system is the state and local infrastructure (personnel, processes, policies, procedures, materials, organizational structures, etc.) that support the implementation of a medical home approach within practices, as well as within the broader surrounding community.</small>

Coalitions Work Resource and Tools Document

Colorado Medicaid and Child Health Community Partnership Development Resources and Tools
Version 2013

Overview: Local public health agencies began implementation of MCH priority related action plans in October 2012. Most of the MCH priority local action plans include the development, management and sustaining of community partnerships as a foundational strategy in the plan. There is a unique set of self-assessments, tools, and policies required to effectively do this type of work.

The state MCH Team identified the need to support LPHs staff members doing community mobilization work. They researched existing resources and tools and selected a set of tools and resources that is comprehensive, user-friendly, easily accessible and free.

Recommendation: Coalitions Work is an organization whose mission is to promote healthy partnerships. They help coalitions and partnerships reach their potential to be a force for positive change in the health of their communities. They do this through collaborative research, education, and consultation with organizations, partnerships and coalitions. They have a vast collection of tools and resources available on their web site at www.coalitionswork.org under Tools and Resources. Tools are organized into four different categories. A sample of the tools is described below.

Coalition Start-Up Tools:

- Is a Coalition Right for You?
A set of questions to help your group decide whether a coalition is the right organizational structure for meeting your group's goal.
- Coalition Basics
A part series of guides that describe 11 stages of coalition development: pre-formation, formation, implementation, maintenance and reinvigoration. Each guide describes what to expect, structure and overall strategy, tools and products/outcomes.
- Model Constitution Letter
A sample letter to use with coalition partners that outlines your vision for collaborative work and the responsibilities and resources that each organization or individual intend to commit to the effort.
- Checklist to Become a 501 (c)(3) Non-Profit Organization
A checklist that details the 25 steps to help your coalition become a non-profit organization.
- What Makes a Good Local Agency?
A checklist of attributes that are good local or local agent should have in order to support the development and operation of a community coalition.

Discussion

Where are you in Objective A "Mobilizing Partnerships" process and how are you planning to evaluate your work?

Your partnership work is just as much about strengthening inward as it is strengthening outward.
